- Monthly, 3-month, or 6-month plans available, adjustable to family income.
- Superbill provided for possible out-of-network reimbursement.
- No interruptions from insurance authorizations or policy changes.
- Focus stays on your child's progress, not paperwork.

Our Philosophy on Cash-Pay Care

At Summit Speech & Autism Center, every decision we make is guided by one priority: what is best for your child. We believe that therapy should never be delayed or disrupted by insurance rules that have little to do with your child's actual needs. Too often, families face long waits for authorizations, strict visit limits, or sudden interruptions in care when insurance coverage changes. These roadblocks stand in the way of progress during the most important developmental windows.

By choosing a cash-pay model, we remove those barriers and keep the focus where it belongs—on helping your child grow, communicate, and thrive. This approach allows us to offer flexible scheduling, intensive programs when needed, and personalized therapy plans guided only by evidence-based practice and your family's goals. We also provide superbills so families can submit for out-of-network reimbursement, while ensuring that your child's care is never dictated by red tape.

At Summit Speech & Autism Center, our commitment is simple: your child's progress, uninterrupted.

Feedback from Parent

Why us?

"We had been waiting months for an autism evaluation in Salt Lake, but Summit Speech & Autism Center got us in right away. The process was so thorough yet family-friendly, and we left with not only a diagnosis but also a plan that fit our child and our family. It's rare to find this level of expertise without the stress of long waitlists."

- Lindsey A., Park City

"Our daughter had struggled to communicate for years. Katherine introduced us to AAC and trialed several devices until we found the right one. Within weeks, she was telling us what she wanted for the first time. Having this kind of specialized care right here in Park City has been life-changing for our family."

- Micheal B., Jeremy Ranch

"The intensive sessions were exactly what our son needed. Having therapy in our home 4 days a week, with Katherine coaching us along the way, made the strategies stick. We saw faster progress in two months than we had in years of weekly sessions elsewhere. It felt collaborative, personal, and effective—everything we had been looking for."
